GEORGE BOICE THOMPSON.*

After an illness of three weeks with typhoid fever, Mr. Thompson died, October 28, 1888. Mr. Thompson had planned to enter a theological seminary at the conclusion of his college course. He was a loyal friend to all that pertained to Rutgers College.

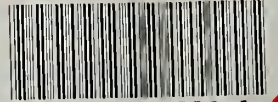

MAURICE JOSEPH THOMPSON.*

Mr. Thompson was born at Pella, Iowa, October 19, 1867. He was the son of Rev. Abraham Thompson, Rutgers 1857. Preparing for college at Somerville Academy, N. J., he graduated at Rutgers in 1889 with the degree of A.B., at the head of his class. He graduated at the New York Law School and was a member of the Bergen County Bar Association of New Jersey. His life, however, was devoted to teaching. He had taught at Pennsylvania State College, 1889-91; the Brooklyn Manual Training School, 1896-99, and the High School of Commerce in New York, 1899-1903. Later he became Principal of School No. 6, New York City. On February 10, 1897, he married Elizabeth S. Bainton, of New York City. His widow, one daughter and one son survive him. Mr. Thompson died at Hackensack, N. J., February 27, 1914.

JOHN ARENT VANDER POEL.*

Mr. Vander Poel was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Vander Poel, grandson of the late Mrs. William Curtis Noyes, great-grandson of Frederick A. Tallmadge, of New York, and great-great-grandson of Col. Benjamin Tallmadge, of Revolutionary fame. Mr. Vander Poel was also a member of the Floyd and other prominent families of New York. Mr. Vander Poel was compelled to retire from active business on account of illness after a successful start, and died at his home, Litchfield, Conn., January 28, 1901.
